

BILINGUAL RESOURCES WEBSITE LAUNCH

A website promoting various bilingual resources for both parents and children who speak two or more languages.

If you or someone you know are seeking information or resources for bilingualism, then this website is for you. More information is available on the other side of this leaflet.

WEBSITE CONTENT

We have selected information which is scientifically supported by research and includes findings from valid sources. From blog posts, articles, videos, and further reading. The term 'bilingual' can be used for anyone who speaks more than two languages, not just for those who speak 2 languages.

Our website has 3 main different sections based on this information:

1. Benefits: cognitive, social, and cultural benefits that bilingualism can provide
2. Education: further info for both parents & children e.g. parenting methods, bilingualism concepts
3. Resources: offers various websites, blogs, and videos that specialise in resources for bilingual families

OUR GOALS

We aim to provide free, legitimate, and peer-reviewed sources to provide an easy way to access information on bilingualism and languages for any and all bilingual families. This also includes families who may not be bilingual but wish to seek more information on the topic.

With a strong emphasis on community and reliability, we hope that you find this website useful in your bilingual journeys.
